

Milngavie in Bloom - Community Bed 2025

When the ladies of the knitting group in the Fraser Centre were invited to partner Milngavie in Bloom with the Community Bed, they literally seized the opportunity with both hands!

Once they learned that the theme of Beautiful Scotland this year was Nature and Biodiversity, Joan Crawford, Lynn Bowie, Pamela Deans, Fiona Lennard, Elizabeth Berlin and in particular Margaret MacDonald set to and knitted all the animals in our display. The silver hedgehogs and butterflies celebrate Keep Scotland Beautiful's twenty fifth anniversary.

The joy and energy this display has brought to the residents and visitors of Milngavie is immeasurable. The ladies inside the Fraser Centre delight in watching the children counting and naming the animals.

What a magnificent achievement ladies! Our heartfelt thanks from all the volunteers of Milngavie in Bloom who, of course, designed and planted up the display.

Our flowers lasted long into the season and so did our animals!

We had three families of silver hedgehogs (one of which is not visible), the owls keeping watch, Mother swan with her cygnets in tow surrounded by an otter, a dragonfly and even an octopus! Look carefully and you will spot numerous large ladybirds, bees and our silver threaded butterflies.
