

Art competition – Craftivism

This year's Climate Action Week includes an invitation for your pupils to create a collective piece of craftivism inspired by the artwork of artist Paul Bartlett.

We would like to invite your class or Eco-Committee to work together to create one poster depicting a Scottish native animal that is being affected by climate change, with a message to the grown-ups . You can see some of Paul Bartlett's wonderful puffins on the following pages. You can use scrap paper, old magazines, newspapers, or any other sustainable material that you would prefer, and if you would like to, you could even venture into making your own glue with flour and water, so you can compost your creation later on.

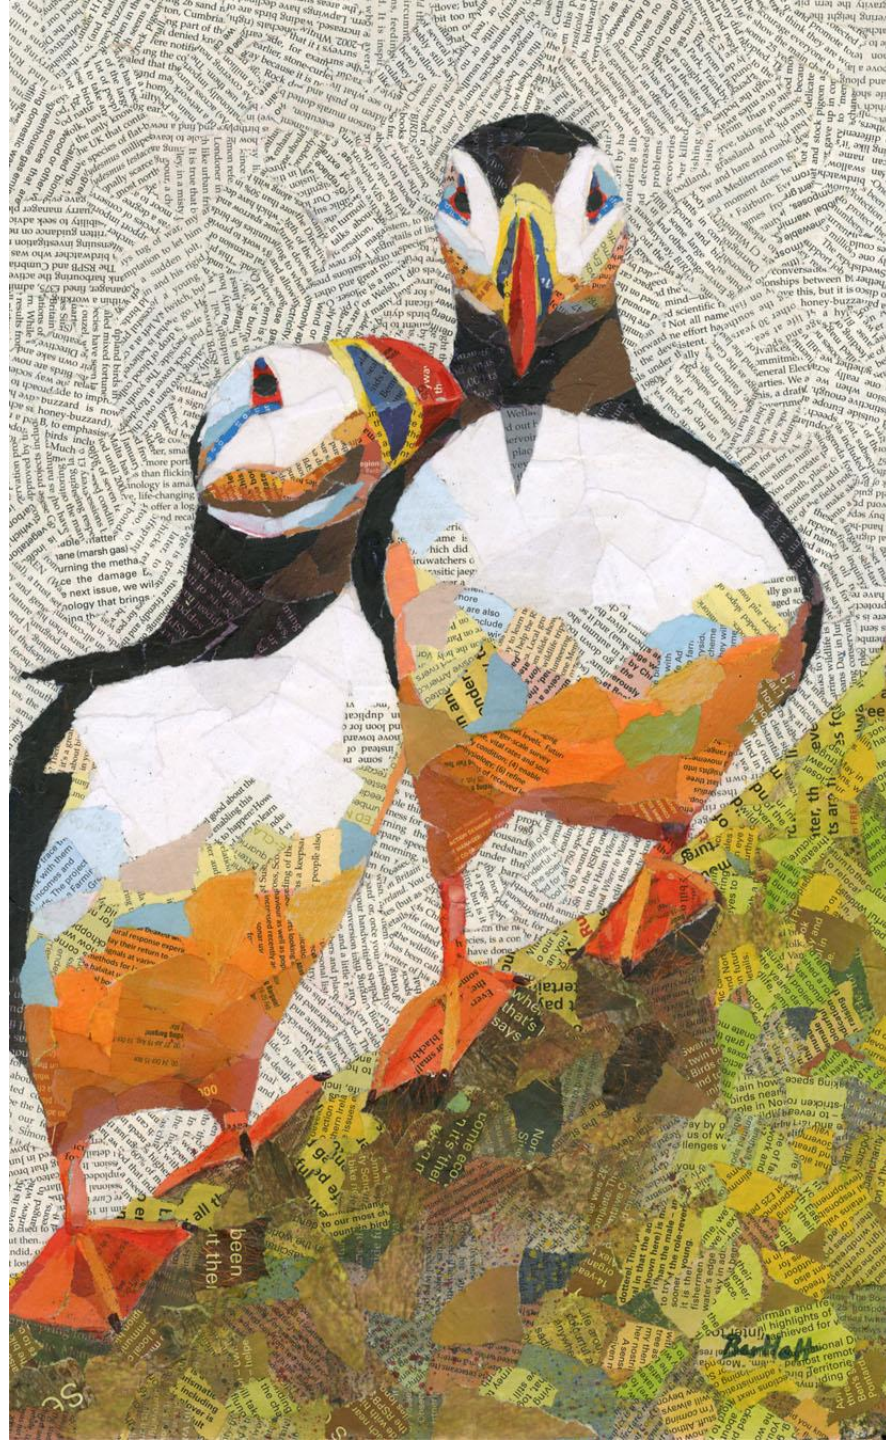

Please submit a photo of only one artwork per class/Eco-Committee to ecoschools@keepscotlandbeautiful.org by Friday 30th of September. Winners per category (Early Years- P3, Upper Primary and High Schools) will be announced 7th of October. All entries will be displayed on a virtual gallery on our website.

“Three's company”
Paul Bartlett.

www.naturalselectiongallery.co.uk

“Puffin pair on the May” Paul Bartlett.
www.naturalselectiongallery.co.uk

“Puffin tall” Paul Bartlett.
www.naturalselectiongallery.co.uk

“Scratch” Paul Bartlett.

www.naturalselectiongallery.co.uk

“The arrival” Paul Bartlett.

www.naturalselectiongallery.co.uk

“Back with the catch” Paul Bartlett.
www.naturalselectiongallery.co.uk